M'NAMARA BROS., PLEAD GUILTY

To The Charge of Dynamiting Los Angeles Times Building
Oct. 1st, 1910.

Los Angeles, Dec. 1.—Ortie McManigal, his need for secrecy past, told tonight of his dynamiting career. He said he first began June 25, 1907, in Detroit, where the Russell Wheel Foundry Company's building, then under construction was destroyed. He went a year without dynamiting then. In Conover Woods, Wisconsin, James B. McNamara told him of dynamiting the Los Angeles Times building. They left there about a year ago. McManigal spent a few days in Chicago, then was summoned on December 3, to Indianapolis by "Frank" which meant James B., who sometimes used the name of Frank Sullivan. There in John J. McNamara's office, he said, he was given instructions on the Lewellyn job by John J. himself. He said he had been promised a Christmas present was to be sent to Los Angeles, and that I was to bring it. They got a case specially made to carry nitroglycerine, he said, from John J.'s office, drove to the edge of the city, (Indianapolis) and there, where it had been hidden, got twelve quarts of the explosive. "We (McManigal and James B.) went back to John J.'s office and I got instructions for John J. himself to come to Los Angeles. He told me to put shots under the Lewellyn Iron Works, the Baker Iron Works and be sure to put one under the Times Auxiliary Plant to add a few more to the list."

Gompers Crushed.

Toledo, Dec. 1.—"I am astounded; I am astounded; my credulity has been imposed upon. It is a bolt out of a clear sky." Exclamations were those of Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, when told of the McNamara admissions.

Asked if he believed today's developments would injure the cause of organized labor, tears came in Gompers eyes. "They are not going to do it any good," he said. The cause of labor has been imposed upon both by supposed friends and enemies. The cause of labor cannot win by such methods as these men pursued. This unexpected self-conviction is nothing more or less than a failure of two individuals to live up to the high principles of organized labor and cannot reflect just condemnation on the cause of labor as a whole."

Mother Still Says

Boys Not Guilty.

Cincinnati, Dec. 1.—Mrs. Mary McNamara, mother of the dynamiters refused tonight to believe her boys guilty, even though they confessed. She returned from the west a few days ago.

Burns Pleased Over The Result.

Chicago, Dec. 1.—"I consider the outcome a great personal vindication for me," said Detective William J. Burns, when told of the sensational developments in the McNamara case. He referred to the charges by Gompers and others that he 'planted' dynamite and that the prosecution "was not on the square," adding, "I had absolutely no personal feeling against either defendant. I was employed by the mayor of Los Angeles to investigate this case. My sole purpose was to make a thorough inquiry. The evidence has been just what I said it would be—overwhelming."

Disagree on Chicken.

Galesburg, Ill., Dec. 4.—A jury of 100 Illinois newspaper men, picked to pass on the qualities of different varieties of chickens at a banquet here last night, was unable to fix a verdict. Orphingtons, Plymouth Rocks and Wyandottes ran a dead heat. The feast was given at the Galesburg club by the Galesburg Poultry Association to further the annual show to begin on January 15.

Swept From Decks

Like So Many Corks.

Great Wall of Water Falls Upon Sailors of Sant' Anna.

New York, Dec. 4.—A tremendous sea, which hammered the bow and swept the decks of the Fabre Line steamship Sant' Anna, caused the death of four seamen and the serious injury of three others. News of the disaster was brought to port when the liner arrived today from Marseilles and Naples.

The ship's passage as a whole was stormy and unpleasant, but it was not until Nov. 27 that the heaviest sea was encountered. Described by Capt. Pavy as the "most terrific he ever encountered," a great mass of water rose like a wall before the vessel, then fell with crushing force upon the decks, and sweeping over ever part of the ship, carried seamen Sarti, Calisti and Quarelli overboard like corks. Three others were stretched out unconscious on the decks. The impact of the wall of water had nearly stopped the ship. Engines were reversed quickly. Life buoys were thrown out promptly and, as the vessel neared the spot where the four had been swept into the sea they were seen floating on the buoys. The sea was so violent, however, that three of them relinquished their hold and sank. Quarrelli succeeded in grasping a life line and was hauled aboard.

When attention was directed to the injured it was found that two seamen, Foixet and Roumien, and Pazetti, the ship's boy, had been badly hurt. Foixet's spine was broken and he died two days later. The others were operated upon and probably will recover.

One life had been taken by the train a short time previously when Simon Stevens, mine boss at Central City, threw himself under its wheels, as the train passed through the town. Most of the injured residents live in towns along the line of the road. Engineer Frailey, of Louisville, was perhaps fatally hurt as was Roy Ludlow, fireman, of Louisville.

FREE SAMPLE CURED OLD PERSON'S BOWEL TROUBLE

One of the most remarkable proofs of the unusual laxative merit contained in Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is that it is effective not only in people in the prime of life, but at the extremes of ages. As many letters are received from mothers regarding the cures of children, as from men and women of sixty, seventy and eighty years of age. It must be truly a wonderful laxative.

In the cure of constipation and bowel trouble in old people it has no equal. It corrects the constipation, dispels the headache, biliousness, gas, drowsiness after eating, etc. People advancing in years should see to it that their bowels move freely, and if they do not to take Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. You can prolong your life by healthy bowel action. Clogged bowels invite disease. Women about to pass the menstrual period cannot do better than use Syrup Pepsin several times a week until the system has settled to its future condition.

Among the strongest supporters of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are Mr. W. G. Zorn of New Decatur, Ala., and Mr. George S. Spaulding of the National Soldiers' Home, Kansas, both elderly men. The regular size bottles can be bought of any druggist at fifty cents and one dollar, but a free sample bottle can be had by sending your address to the doctor.

Address him Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 402 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

THANKSGIVING.

By Wm. D. Stone.

Thanksgiving Day a festival of thankings celebrated in the United States which resembles the feast of ingathering held by the Hebrews.

The Pilgrim fathers at Plymouth in 1620 kept the earliest harvest thanksgiving in America. These Pilgrims landed in the autumn of 1620 and in the autumn of 1621 after the gathering of the harvest, the little band, few in number, assembled together and extend thanks to God for the great harvest that they had gathered; and for life, prosperity and happiness that they had received in selecting a new country for their new home—a land, a country, a sun light world with the love of its creator, where they could worship God according to the desires his own conscience. And they learned that this country promised all this, and etc.

The last Thursday in November 1621, they had gathered the harvest and gave thanks on that day. And the American people has from that day recognized the Pilgrim doctrine.

The governors of the colonies appointed a day for regaining in the autumn, for thanksgiving services which had been popular from the early settlements and today it still ranks as a special annual festival.

Thanksgiving services were recommended by Congress for each year of Revolutionary War and in 1784 a special day of thanksgiving was appointed for the return of peace after the adoption of the constitution in 1789. Washington appointed a thanksgiving day while a special thanksgiving for the welfare of the nation was given in 1795. The eastern states kept this up as a general annually observance from the Pilgrims.

When Lincoln issued a proclamation recommending that the last Thursday of November be observed as Thanksgiving Day, all the succeeding Presidents have regularly issued proclamation, calling the attention of the nation the observance of this festival which is a legal holiday and it is to be proclaimed by the Governors of all the states in whom alone is rested the legal authority to declare a holiday within the states.

Watch ye, stand fast in the faith. Quit you like men be strong.—First Corinthians 16:13.

The Bible teaches us to visit the sick, help the poor, administer to the widows and orphans. Oh! how badly this is neglected in our community at this present time. Oh I would to God that we would all come to a sense of our religious duties and try to help some one. Through life's struggles on to glory and to God.

Several of our people contemplate attending the revival at Frances which commenced Friday night.

Guy and Raymond Patton were guests of their uncle, Jim Patton, at Caldwell Springs, Sunday afternoon.

Willie Clark was confined to his room several days last week with throat trouble.

Getting winter's wood is now one of man's occupations.

Rev. E. B. Blackburn, of Marion, presented the church at Seven Springs with a handsome, large Bible for the stand, for which the members feel very thankful to God and Bro. Blackburn for this precious gift, and we trust as he is growing old, that he may grow stronger in the knowledge and grace of our Lord Jesus Christ and yet be able to win many precious souls to Christ as we believe it is his desire to do so.

Hog killing time is now on docket, and pork and turnips are simply fine.

Young men respect the young lady with whom you keep company and I will say to the young lady, if wedded to this kind of a man, that he will make you an ideal husband.

There is a great deal of sickness in our midst now but not dangerously sick.

A merry Thanksgiving to all.

GIRL IS PAINTING HUGE SMOKESTACK

Miss Mary Pixley at Work on The Kentucky Electric's 260 Foot Structure.

Miss Mary Pixley, a young Jeffersonville girl, is engaged in the work of painting the 260-foot smokestack of the Kentucky Electric Company, at the new plant, on Washington street between Second and Third.

Wednesday afternoon Miss Pixley, who is associated with her father, Jas. Pixley, in the painting business, went to work on the new smokestack. Swinging from the huge structure on a small seat that is used as the base of operations by painters, Miss Pixley attacked the work that ordinarily requires a man of the strongest nerve, with as little concern as though she was dusting the piano.

Miss Pixley is a painter, who specializes on wielding the brush on high and dangerous tasks. She is the only woman in the United States who is an adept at the line of work she pursues. The work she has done mostly is to paint high smokestacks and towers.

The newly erected smokestack of the Kentucky Electric Co., is the tallest in the city. A week ago Tuesday Charles Finzka, an experienced stack builder, fell from the stack to his death, and two associates escaped the same fate by the barest of margins.

To climb up this stack on the out side requires, besides nerve, the sheerest strength. To accomplish this feat strong gloves are necessary, as the hands are forced to grip the rungs of the ladder rigidly. Often a pair of gloves is worn out in one trip. The emotions excited in a tyro who ventures to climb up a sheer precipitous height as that presented by such a smokestack are frightful. At first, he becomes slightly amazed at the wonderful distance from the ground, but as he goes farther, enervating terror seizes him and he often fails to make a complete ascent when only a few feet from the top. It becomes necessary for him to rest on the trip, and when it is over he falls limp.—Ex.

Cumberland River Convention.

The Cumberland River Improvement Association will hold its fourth annual meeting in Nashville on November 29. The object of this organization is the permanent improvement of the Cumberland with a view to slack water navigation all the year around.

The Cumberland River lies wholly within the States of Kentucky and Tennessee, pursuing a tortuous course from its source in the mountains of Southeastern Kentucky to the State line, sweeping through Tennessee and again entering Kentucky at the western end of the State to pour its waters into the Ohio river at Smithland. It is one of the Ohio's most important tributaries, and from Nashville to its mouth navigation has been active ever since the steamboat became a factor of importance in Western and Southern waters. It traverses a country rich in mineral and agricultural resources, and in its upper reaches it provides the only transportation facilities available for a large territory.

Citizens of the upper Cumberland recently celebrated the completion of a new lock and dam which will be of great benefit. Other locks and dams are needed, however, to enable the Cumberland River steamers to do an all-the-year business and thus develop to the fullest the traffic that undoubtedly is waiting for them. There is no river in the United States, perhaps, of similar size and length, where the possibilities of development more amply justify such expenditure for improvement as will bring about slack water navigation from one year's end to another. Kentuckians who reside in the Cumberland valley are deeply interested in this project for the canalization of the river and should be much in evidence at the convention which meets in Nashville November 29.—Courier-Journal.

Big Hat Saves Beauty.

Thanks to fashionable millinery, Miss Bertha Schroeder escaped facial disfigurement and possible serious injury the other evening when her head was thrust through one of the windows of a street car, sending the shattered glass flying in every direction, says the Baltimore Sun.

The car on which she was a passenger was crowded, and rounded a curve so sharply that many of the standing passengers lost their equilibrium. Two or three of them lurched against Miss Schroeder, and her head was forced through the window. A shower of glass fell about the young woman, but the protection of the big hat saved her from injury. The hat, however, was ruined.

OBITUARY.

After a prolonged illness of several years, Jonathan A. Jacobs quietly and peacefully came to his death, in his 78th year, Saturday evening, November 25, 1911. He was the son of Benjamin Holland and Mary Jacobs, being the second child of a family of twelve children, nine boys and three girls. He was born in Virginia December 1st, 1833. His parents came to Kentucky when he was about one year old and settled on a farm near Piney Fork campground, in this county.

In youth he professed faith in Christ and united with the Methodist church at Providence near the present village of Crayne. Soon afterwards he transferred his membership to the Cumberland Presbyterian at Piney Fork, where he remained a faithful, loyal, member until death. In the year 1861 he answered the call of his country and enlisted in the Union Army and served faithfully and heroically until the close of the war. After the war closed he returned to his home and resumed his occupation of farming. On November 26, 1871 he was married to Mary Crider Dollar, who husband died of smallpox during the Civil War.

To this union were born five children, one son and four daughters. This was a happy and unbroken family until the messenger of death made his first claim upon the home, and on December 8th, 1887, the beloved wife and fond mother was taken. He continued to live at Marion where the family had moved one month before his wife's death, until his failing health caused him to make his home with his daughter, Mrs. J. P. Loyd, where he died.

As a man he was a good citizen, a patriot of his country, a christian gentleman, temperate in his habits, strong in his convictions and adherence of the right, a true friend and neighbor a loving and faithful husband, and a kind indulgent father.

Besides four brothers, his five children, one step-daughter and sixteen grand children, he leaves many friends to cherish his memory.

The family wishes to thank all who so kindly assisted during his affliction and in preparation for the funeral.

Every family has need of a good, reliable liniment. For strains, bruises, soreness of the muscles and rheumatic pains there is none better than Chamberlain's. Sold by all dealers.

TOBACCO TIDINGS.

BY R. F. WHEELER.

The Situation To Date

Manager Elliott and the district board were down at the Elliott factory yesterday showing the samples. Mr. W. G. Head, of Head & Son, of Madisonville, and Robt. Micheals of the Gallaher Company, limited were at the factory during the day.

Mr. Edwin Hodge of the Imperial company and Mr. John Hodge will inspect the sample tomorrow and Monday.

I talked with Mr. C. D. Oglesby, committeeman from Union county, last night.

"What," "I asked" is your opinion of the crop, after seeing the samples from all the counties?" "It is a good crop," He answered, Better than the average crop and better than last years crop." The present crop is of extra good body and quality and as a rule good color, and a crop of the color of which will improve right along. The samples as a rule show a clean crop as a rule, altho the tips of the tails of some of the samples show a little damage by dirt. However, that dirt on the tips can be wiped off in stripping I feel sure "continued Mr. Oglesby" that the purchasers of the crop will be pleased will it at delivery time.

Committee will go home today leaving Manager Elliott to wrestle with buyers.

The above is clipped from an article appearing in Saturday's Henderson papers, shows that the committee and the buyers have gotten down to business, and you may expect something doing in a short time. Members may feel assured that their interest will be well guarded. The officers of this Association know what they have to sell. They are fully acquainted with market conditions that effect the value of the crop. They know what to do with it if the buyers will not pay something like the value of it. Watch these columns and we will keep you posted.

We are confident, also that we can assure the Committee that the members of Crittenden county will know that the Stemming District Tobacco Association is not an organization that pools up tobacco to dump on the market to the highest bidder, regardless of what that bid may be, and that they will stand loyally by there Committe and the officers of this Association in their effort to get the worth of their crop.

Chairman Dean Writes us from Henderson, to tell Members that want to go to stripping to follow the instructions of last year until further notice. He further instructs you to brush all dirt off the ends of leaves as possible, and if you had any rained on in the patch do not mix it with your clean tobacco.

LADY SMUGGLERS HOLD TONGUES AT COST OF $4,000

Their Trunks Seized, They Wept Copiously.

New York, Dec. 3.—The custom house yesterday seized about $2,500 worth of gowns, lingerie, mementoes, etc., in the trunks of Miss Louisa Bradbury and her niece, Miss Marian Winston, of Los Angeles, Cal., who arrived from Europe on the Lusitania on Friday. Miss Bradbury is about 40 years old and is supposed to be a sister of Col. John Bradbury, of Los Angeles, the millionaire who owns the Mines del Tago, at Rosario, Mexico.

Miss Winston is 22 years old. She was graduated recently from an American convent school. The two people wept copiously in the custom house yesterday, but were told that their troubles were due to their evasiveness and dogged determination not to set any value on their purchases abroad.

When the blank declarations were sent around the Lusitania as she neared port, the women left important questions unanswered. Coming up the bay Acting Deputy Collector Decker asked Miss Bradbury what stuff she and her niece had bought abroad and what was its value. "I cannot answer that because I do not know," replied Miss Bradbury.

"Well put some approximate value upon it," said the acting collector.

"I cannot do that even," answered the woman. Woman Involves Her Friends. The California women were turned over at the pier to Inspector Robert Behr, with the information that they had made no declaration. They had three trunks between them.

Very specifically Inspector Behr asked the elder woman for a declaration of value. She was still evasive. Behr then turned the women over to Acting Deputy Surveyor Edward H. Norwood. Miss Bradbury again refused to name any amount. "I do not see why I have to pay an duty," said Miss Bradbury to Norwood, "as I know of cases of friends of mine who in dresses without paying anything at all."

"In the interest of justice you should give up the names of your friends," she was told. She refused.

"Well in case you will not give any amount, we shall have to send your baggage to the public stores," said Norwood, "and you and Miss Winston will have to appear before the Surveyor at the custom house."

They went to the custom house at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. They had no lawyer.

Mark P. Andrews, solicitor to the Collector and Assistant Solicitor Edward Barnes sat with Surveyor Henry and Special Deputy Surveyor George J. Smyth at the examination. The deputy said afterward that Miss Bradbury presented a solid front at first. The women showed bills indicating the purchase of about $1,300 worth of goods in Paris. Other goods, for which they had no bills, were estimated to be worth $1,200. They consisted of furs, fancy underwear, dresses, trinkets, etc.

Refuses Her Friend's Names. Miss Bradbury was asked about her friends who had evaded duties. She refused their names. The government obtained the names later from another source, and treasury officials will investigate.

The aunt and her niece have been away two months, and, in the opinion of the customs official apparently one of their objects in going abroad was to collect some good material for gowns, underwear, etc. "We do not believe it reasonable," concluded the board of inquiry, "to put any other interpretation upon the actions of the women." The board therefore ordered the goods seized, and the women wept over the rail. They were permitted to go to the seizure room and separate the gowns they had worn from the others, so that they might have a change of raiment while here. They spent a long time at the task. Their only recourse is to appeal to the treasury department, which may allow them to retain the stuff by paying its foreign value and the duty, about $4,000 in all, to which may be added a fine.

Col. John Bradbury, of Los Angeles, and his wife left their city some years ago to make a tour of the world in 90 days and returned two days late, to lose a stake of thousands of dollars. Two days later Mrs. Bradbury, who was Lucy Banning, the daughter of General Phineas Banning, owner of the Catalina islands, eloped with W. Russell Ward, an Englishman, known as the "British Andonis". Ward was arrested but fled. Mrs. Bradbury's husband forgave her Ward took a train east and jumped from it to his death. Later Mrs. Bradbury got a divorce and married Mace Greenleaf an actor.

Wife Wont Let

Millionaire Pay Debt.

Pittsburg, Dec. 3.—A suit was filed in court here today by John Ross, a small contractor, against Joseph C. Trees, millionaire oil operator and philanthropist, for the recovery of $372, which he alleges he loaned Trees in 1895 when the present millionaire was poor and had just been married. In his bill of complaint Ross says he met Trees on the street recently and that Trees said:

"I know I owe you the money and I would pay you, John, because you befriended me when I hadn't anything. I would pay you, but Claudia, my wife, wont let me."

FACTS AND FICTION

Experiences of Marion Citizens Are Easily Proven to be Facts.

The most superficial investigation will prove that the following statement from a resident of Marion is true. Read it and compare evidence from Marion people with testimony of strangers living so far away you cannot investigate the facts of the case. Many more citizens, of Marion, will endorse Doan's Kidney Pills.

Mrs. Emma Weldon, Salem St., Marion, Ky., says: "Kidney trouble annoyed me for five years and greatly affected my health. My back was lame and pained me most of the time. I had headaches and often could hardly see. None of the remedies I tried gave me any benefit until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Haynes & Taylor's Drug Store. The effect of this remedy was marvelous, as in two months I was free from kidney trouble. My only regret is that I did not hear of Doan's Kidney Pills sooner, as it would have saved me much expense and misery."

recently brought to light. Mrs. Colby T. Jenkins a lover of pets, has had an unusual one thrust upon her in an uncommon manner.

In hog-killing season Mr. Jenkins, a wealthy farmer, found that a Berkshire sow had been killed, leaving behind her two tiny pigs. These he promptly brought to his wife, wondering how to provide for them.

Mrs. Jenkins had successfully raised colts, calves and even pet rabbits on milk administered through bottles, and served via nipples, and her husband felt that she could help him out of this dilemma.

The pigs were put under an out-building while the thrifty house-keeper was trying "to find a way," when, to their utter amazement, they discovered that the family dog, who had a litter of pups, had already solved the problem for them. She was fostering one of the sucklings, the other one dying.

Blind Hunter Accidentally Killed.

Bristol, Tenn., Nov. 25.—Edward Smith a blind wonder of the North Carolina mountains, was accidentally shot to death at Saginaw, a lumber camp, a few days ago. He stumbled and fell while crossing a culvert on the lumber tramway at Saginaw. As he fell, the hammer of his gun struck against a car wheel and was discharged. The bullet entered his right breast and he was dead in a few minutes.

Smith, who was 30 years old and unmarried, although stone blind, was able to roam through the mountains and hunt unassisted. Capt. Henry Perry, who is employed in the offices of the lumber company, said that Smith seemed to be able to find his way anywhere he desired to go, his determination of directions and paths being apparently a matter of instinct.

Unintentionally Violates Game Law.

Fitchburg, Mass., Dec. 4.—John H. Beer, of West Fitchburg, has reported to Irving O. Converse, deputy game warden, that he had killed two deer with one bullet.

Beer said he was out hunting yesterday near what is known as Scrabble Hollow when he saw a big buck. He stationed himself behind a clump of bushes with his gun aimed in the direction where he saw the deer. When he thought it time to fire he did so. Later he went to the scene and says he found that he had not only killed the big buck, but also that the bullet had passed into a doe that was lying beside the buck. Both were dead.

Under the State law only one deer can be killed by each hunter.

FEASIBILITY OF ACCURATE SHOOTING FROM AEROPLANE DEMONSTRATED BY UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT.

Flying at Mile-a-Minute Clip, Lieut. Fickel Throws Two Successive Shots Straight Into Target.

Bridgeport, Conn., was recently the scene of a most remarkable aeroplane achievement. Not only did it thrill the vast army of spectators because of the reckless daring displayed by the bird-men, but it proved beyond all question that, with the right make of rifle, a marksman can shoot while flying at tremendous speed, with the same accuracy as when on the ground.

Army officers have been anything but satisfied with the results obtained with the service rifle, and the flight was planned as a test of a repeating arm of other than government make.

The flight took place at the Lake Aerodrome before 30,000 people who paid admission and a far greater number who occupied points of vantage upon neighboring hilltops, housetops and trees.

When Beachy came upon the field, a violent wind was blowing. Undeterred, he mounted his seat and was soon soaring high above. More than once it seemed to the spectators that his frail craft must surely turn turtle and come crashing to the earth, but every time the treacherous wind threatened, clever manipulation by the aviator held the machine straight and true. After having been in the air a number of minutes, Beachy pointed his craft in the direction of the grandstand, circled it twice and, as gracefully as a bird alights, brought it safely to the ground.

To every one present it seemed certain, in view of the dangerous antics of the wind, that no more flights would be attempted that afternoon; but to the amazement of all, Beachy, as soon as he landed, hailed Lieut. Fickel, who was standing nearby, armed with a Remington-UMC rifle, and invited him to take a seat alongside.

This Lieut. Fickel did, and aviator and passenger were soon on their way. To make the trip all the more hazardous, the machine had been shorn of all extra supports invariably carried with passengers for balance.

Time and again the big planes could be seen to tremble as if they were about to snap when contrary gusts of wind caught them; and to those below the tilting and the swaying of the monoplane were fore-runners of certain destruction to the aviator and his passenger.

When the machine reached the farther end of the field it suddenly turned, and came flying back at lightning speed. At the other end of the field, in full view of the spectators, a target had been rigged. When within firing range, Lieut. Fickel raised his rifle and sent two shots straight to the mark.

It was a wonderful performance and a fitting climax to a meet that was replete with sensational features.

In an interview after the demonstration, Lieut. Fickel said that he found the speed and accuracy of the Auto-loader a distinct advantage over the service rifles he had previously used in similar tests, and that he considered it the only practical gun for use under such conditions.

Russia's ultimatum made a declaration of war in 48 hours the only alternative.

M'NAMARA BROS., PLEAD GUILTY

To The Charge of Dynamiting Los Angeles Times Building Oct. 1st, 1910.

Los Angeles, Dec. 1.—James B. McNamara plead guilty to murder in the first degree here today. His brother John J. McNamara entered a plea of guilty to having dynamited the Llewellyn Iron works here on Christmas day, 1910. James B. McNamara's confession clears up absolutely the explosion and fire which at 1:07 am. October 1, '10, wrecked the plant of the Los Angeles Times and caused the death of twenty-one persons.

Both men's lives are considered saved. James B. McNamara likely will get a life term and John J. fourteen years in the penitentiary. The contention that the Los Angeles Times Bldg was not dynamited is dead beyond resurrection or argument.

The McNamara will be sentenced next Tuesday, December 5. James B., probably will get life imprisonment. John J., it is rumored will get fourteen years.

Each pleaded guilty to the charge on which he was extradited from Indianapolis.

"If I'd seen any way out of it, we would not have done it," said Attorney Darrow, after the trial. The Los Angeles Times Building was blown up by nitroglycerine, to be sure, but the bomb touched off the gas really did it."

Later he said, "of course I feel I have helped the McNamaras by getting them to plead guilty, in so far as they probably will not be sentenced to death, we have had this action under consideration since a week ago Monday."

In a statement to the court of the intention of the defense Attorney Lecompte Davis for the defense said: "After a long consideration of the matter and the final consultation between counsel for the defendants, we have concluded to withdraw the plea of not guilty and to have the defendant enter into plea of guilty and the like course we intend to pursue with reference to J. J. McNamara, wherein he is charged with having destroyed the Llewellyn Iron works."

Each was called in turn and formally made his plea.

NINETEENTH NATIONAL IRRIGATION CONGRESS

DECEMBER 5 TO 9.

The object and purpose of this Congress can best be expressed in its motto, "Save the forests, store the floods, reclaim the deserts, make homes on the land," to which might be added "drain the swamp and make homes on the land."

There are in the United States 600,000 acres of swamp land, non-productive, a menace to health, and a deterrent to immigration. 75,000,000 acres divided into 40 acre farms means homes for 1,875,000 families, or approximately 10,000,000 of our citizenry. This land when reclaimed will be as healthful as land that has always been dry, and will be the most productive of all lands, because it is composed of the rich soil brought down by the rivers, deposited and mixed with the decayed vegetation for centuries.

On account of the diversified ownership and state complications it would seem that the United States Government is logically the authority to reclaim these lands along the lines pursued in the reclamation of the arid lands of the West.

The results of irrigation of the arid lands of the Far West, and the possibilities of the drainage of the swamp lands of the Great South, and elsewhere, will be given particular attention in an elaborate program that has been planned for this congress. Delegates from all parts of the country, as well as foreign representatives, have been invited, and a goodly attendance is expected.
